READING SUGGESTIONS

Apocalyptic
Leon Morris

Written in 1972 at 101 pages it is still the best book on the subject. He gets the main things wright and does it with supreme clarity.
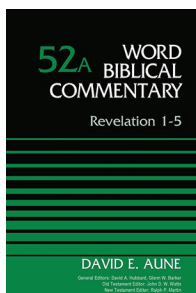

The Dawn of Apocalyptic Paul D. Hanson

Hanson is an academic that highlights the background and development of Apocalyptic Literature in Israel. He has a particularly good section on Zechariah 9-14.

The Book of Revelation: A Shorter Exegetical Commentary G.K. Beale with David H. Campbell

What can I say? I studied on him. He also helpfully engages with the use of Old Testament allusions throughout Revelation.

Revelation (Word Biblical Commentary, 3 Volumes) David E. Aune

Aune is a comprehensive work that combines exegetical insight with the form and structure of particular texts.
